SPIEGEL & MCDIARMID LLP

Spiegel & McDiarmid Defends Local Zoning Plan Against LNG Complex

June 25, 2012 | Peter J. Hopkins, David E. Pomper, Scott H. Strauss

Spiegel & McDiarmid filed a brief in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, defending a local zoning plan against a Liquefied Natural Gas complex. Washington Gas Light Company, claiming federal preemption and state law zoning immunity, seeks to build an LNG storage facility in a stream valley that Prince George's County, Maryland has zoned for parkland as part of a transit-oriented development plan. The County prevailed on all points before the U.S. District Court for Maryland, and is now defending that ruling on appeal.

Related Practices and Services

- Natural Gas
- Litigation and Appeals
- Energy Industry Transformation

DOWNLOAD ATTACHMENT:
https://www.spiegelmcd.com/wp-content/uploads/2012/06/4th-Cir.-Br_2012_06_25_04_21_11.pdf

Spiegel & McDiarmid Defends Local Zoning Plan Against LNG Complex

June 25, 2012 | Peter J. Hopkins, David E. Pomper, Scott H. Strauss

Spiegel & McDiarmid filed a brief in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, defending a local zoning plan against a Liquefied Natural Gas complex. Washington Gas Light Company, claiming federal preemption and state law zoning immunity, seeks to build an LNG storage facility in a stream valley that Prince George's County, Maryland has zoned for parkland as part of a transit-oriented development plan. The County prevailed on all points before the U.S. District Court for Maryland, and is now defending that ruling on appeal.

Related Practices and Services

- Natural Gas
- Litigation and Appeals
- Energy Industry Transformation

DOWNLOAD ATTACHMENT:
https://www.spiegelmcd.com/wp-content/uploads/2012/06/4th-Cir.-Br_2012_06_25_04_21_11.pdf